

Lenovo Y50 Best Screen replacement option

I have a lenovo Y50 70 and i use it mainly for photography PP and some gaming, and things were good until i started printing, the laptop is beautiful and top natch performance but the monitor is very dull and tricky, the colors aren't accurate and i doubt the gamut could even reach 70% sRGB, i have considered a standalone monitor but my HDMI 1.4 output won't allow 10-bit wide gamut so i thought i's save myself some money replace the LCD and call it a day,

So are there any good options that are compatible with my Y50, 30pin 1080p (pin on buttom left when facing screen front), i'd rather high quality IPS with good viewing angle that is good for editing and gaming 60hz or higher if possible, and is it possible to install a 4k monitor instead by converting the 30 pin to 40?

Much appreciated!
